

Japan = Home

Hill Family JAPAN

the train platform. We boarded the Shinkansen (Bullet Train) and accelerated to about 150 mph towards our new home in Nagaoka, Japan. Along the way we passed by the Megalopolis of Tokyo. Skyscraper after skyscraper flooded our view from our seats. I kept thinking about how many people we were passing. I thought about the husbands coming home to their wives and kids from work. Just normal people like you and me, but with one major difference. Only a hand full of them know Jesus. I started praying, "God help us reach these people. Father thank you for bringing us here. Bring revival to this place. Use us as you see fit. Help us to share your great Gospel with them. Help us to learn the language quickly."

We arrived shortly after 7PM and were greeted by missionaries Mike and Cindy Burgett. The Stanfords and Burgetts have graciously given us the opportunity to work with them while we learn Japanese, and have been an incredible help with getting set up.
